The Pastoral Perspective

This month, on the second Sunday (January 10), we move worship from the Sanctuary to the Parish Hall. There we will gather each week until Palm Sunday. This change of venue has practical aspects: we will save thousands of dollars by not heating a very large space during the coldest time of the year, and we will be better stewards of the environment by not using thousands of gallons of oil. But what appeals to me most about the change is an expression of our faith. Moving from the Sanctuary to the Parish Hall can be for us a form of pilgrimage, a journey to a different place and different way of being. How is this possible, you might wonder, if we are merely shifting our service from one room to another?

A good place to answer this question is with the word “merely.” When we move into the Parish Hall, we make conscious choices, from the way we set up the chairs to how we share the children’s moment. Everything is different. And it is in this difference that we can experience worship and being with God in new ways. That, in turn, enables our faith to take on new shape and head off in unexpected directions.

For this to happen, though, we need to set aside “merely” not only as a word but as a mode of thinking, one that focuses on limits and what we cannot do. Instead, we need to embrace a perspective that envisions possibility, that even dreams of the impossible. Perhaps that may seem like a lot to ask, but consider why we are gathering for worship in the first place: to come before the God who has come to us in Jesus Christ. When we come to church, we lift up words in song and prayer, open our hearts in friendship and caring, offer our hands in service and fellowship in response to the amazing, wondrous, creative, reconciling God who is anything but a “merely” God. The God we come to meet on Sunday mornings is the One who appeared in the world as an infant and who died on a cross so that we might live. Our God is the One who did and continues to do mighty and magnificent things—and calls us as followers of Jesus to do likewise.

SUNDAY SERVICE

WORSHIP IN THE PARISH HALL

Sundays, January 10 through March 13

Participate in Worship

Serve as a Liturgist or Greeter/Usher

Ever wonder how your friends ended up handing out bulletins, delivering the call to worship and reading scripture from the lectern, or walking gracefully from pew to pew collecting the offering?

It's easy—we asked, and they said yes.

No experience or training is required for these important roles in worship!

If you'd like to serve as either a liturgist or a greeter/usher, contact the church office.

Worship Transportation A Congregational Service

Some members of our congregation, for various reasons, have difficulty getting to Sunday worship on their own. Many others of us have plenty of room in our cars and could easily offer rides. It's time to get these two groups together!

If you need assistance getting to church on Sunday mornings, or if you're willing to give a ride to someone else who does, please contact the Church Administrator.

Our congregational life will be all the richer for this small but vital ministry!

March—Diaconate

COMMUNITY DINNER

Sunday, January 24, 5:00 pm

Leaders: BARB AND BRUCE LARO

Please participate in this vital service to our neighbors! Thanks to the Laros for leading this month's effort—let's support them by donating food, serving, and cleaning up.

Look for sign-ups in the Parish Hall.

Never helped before but interested in trying? Make THIS your month!

New Year, New Leaders!

We are grateful to have a consistent group of dedicated folks who generously commit time and resources to our Community Dinners.

We would love to expand that group!

Please consider organizing a meal in the new year. There are menu resources available to support you, and the church's Community Dinner Fund can help cover any costs.

Below are our dinner dates in 2016, and we still need leaders for the latter half. If you are interested or have questions about this role, please contact the church office.

COMMITTEE NOTES

CHURCH COUNCIL

At December's Council meeting, Jon Scott reported for Stewardship that the pledge process had brought just a few more pledges than last year, with a similar total pledged. However, he pointed out that we've received pledges from a somewhat different mix of people, including some who, despite faithful giving, haven't typically pledged in past years. To support this progress, he urged committee chairs to remind their members to pledge.

Jon also noted that many had made specific commitments of service and volunteer hours, in addition to financial pledges. And expanding on a Diaconate discussion, he observed the need to assist some members with transportation to worship and other events.

Barry Schuster invited suggestions in support of the Nominating Committee process, in advance of the Annual Meeting in February. Any comments should go either to him or chair Amy Driscoll.

Brian Clancy noted for the Music Committee that Henry Danaher was well into his organ study with Diane Belcher at St. Thomas in Hanover. He again thanked the Council and those individuals who had directly supported the costs of this study program.

Reporting for the Diaconate, Susan Montmagny offered congratulations to the six adults (and a baby!) who were set to join the church as new covenant members on December 20. The group met with members of the Diaconate and Pastor Steve Silver the previous Sunday, and Susan reported that each new member had expressed gratitude for how welcoming and supportive congregation members had been since their first visits to church.

Jon Scott distributed a summary statement draft from the Deacons, outlining a response to the UCC's resolutions advocating boycott and divestment from companies doing business in the West Bank. Despite their intention to affirm human rights and the Middle East peace process, the resolutions can be perceived as hostile to Israel in tone. Jon explained that aside from the problematic substance of the resolutions, the process by which they were brought forward and approved seemed unduly one-sided, disregarding the possibility that individual churches might hold different or opposing views.

Deacons are concerned that the resolutions, which presume to speak for all UCC member churches, can be wrongly interpreted and inhibit FCC's efforts to build relationships with local Jewish congregations.

Barry Schuster asked how our church might best present this response, emphasizing the need for congregational review and discussion outside the Diaconate. In particular, the resolutions themselves should be more widely available; Barry also wondered if other UCC churches had responded similarly. All agreed that congregational review was vital, and that distributing some version of the statement in January, in bulletins and the newsletter, could effectively initiate the conversation. In the near term, Jon suggested that Steve Silver could at least convey to UCC leadership that we have concerns about the resolutions.

Following a fruitful congregational discussion in November about our communion serving process, the Diaconate continues to consider how best to accommodate varying preferences for both the intinction process and the distribution of the elements in the pews. When we worship in the Parish Hall during winter months, distribution is the only practical method, but in the Sanctuary, it's possible we will alternate methods from month to month. Steve Silver commended the tenor of the conversation on communion, in which people had shared differing views in a caring, faithful, and respectful way.

In his pastor's report, Steve noted a good Ecumenical Thanksgiving service and very busy Advent so far. Attendance at worship has been strong, including some new people and some who had returned after being away for a time. He also explained the different format for this year's Blue Christmas service, a smaller, contemplative time for communion and reflection.

DIACONATE

In December the Deacons heard an update from Susan Montmagny on the offering collection process. Several deacons have participated with her in using the new process and tally form, but more deacons are urged to participate. It was noted that the Deacon of the Month has the responsibility to collect and process the collection with another deacon.

The Church Administrator has asked the Deacons for help in determining whether to include particular individuals in the new church directory. He distributed a list of names in question.

Several Deacons reported on their experience leading worship services at Genesis. The Diaconate agreed to offer services again in the future; Steve Silver will pursue this option.

Jon Scott reported on his efforts to enhance our Facebook presence. He noted that even a rather modest increase in using the page for church communications over the past few months, by Steve Silver and others, has more than doubled our Facebook "fans." We unfortunately have to spend money for people to see what we're posting, but Jon compared that expense to the cost of newspaper ads that we already purchase. He recommends that we continue to pay for promoted posts and find others in the congregation to help with content for our page.

Steve Teeter reported on the work of UVIP, making reference to an article in the previous Sunday's Valley News. The UVIP Economic Justice Committee distributed information at the Claremont and West Lebanon Walmart stores. The group has also discussed the Black Lives Matter movement. Carolin Bassett has joined Steve and Ron Bailey to represent our church in UVIP; she will be working on its Committee on Aging.

The Deacons also followed up the discussion on communion serving practices. While there is general agreement on serving communion by distribution of elements when we worship in the Parish Hall, the Deacons hope to reach a decision about Sanctuary practices at their next meeting.

Biff Simpson suggested that we consider showing family-friendly movies in the Parish Hall during the winter months, and all thought this a great idea. Biff will supply a list of possible movies at the next Diaconate meeting, and the group will discuss logistics.

In his closing prayer, Steve Silver recognized the third anniversary of the Sandy Hook school shootings.

Community Dinner Fund Available

The Mission & Social Action Committee reminds us that a fund exists to help subsidize preparation of Community Dinners. This fund was created to encourage the provision of more nutritional and (where possible) locally-sourced food for these important meals.

To request reimbursement from the Community Dinner Fund, leaders should submit receipts and an explanatory note to the church office.

The UCC “Boycott and Divest” Resolutions:

How will First Congregational Church of Lebanon respond?

In 2014-15 both the NH Conference and the General Synod of the United Church of Christ (UCC) passed strongly-worded resolutions on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, calling on the UCC and its member churches to “boycott and divest” from companies doing business in the West Bank. First Congregational Church of Lebanon did not endorse or vote on these resolutions, and our Diaconate, following extensive study and prayer, recommends that FCC formally take a position in response, as we are free to do within our congregational governance structure.

Our discussions within the Diaconate raised serious concerns with both the substance of these resolutions and the process by which they were adopted. We also believe that in the absence of a formal position taken by FCC, others in our community and region may wrongly assume that UCC passage of the resolutions means that we and all other UCC congregations support them, too. This misperception is harmful to our relations with the public and other faith communities, particularly the Jewish community in the Upper Valley. Regardless of the intent of the “boycott and divest” resolutions, we have seen that they impair our ability to engage in important interfaith dialogue with our Jewish brothers and sisters.

Call to Action: The Diaconate adopted a draft statement opposing the “boycott and divest” resolutions and has brought its recommendations to Church Council, based in part on these core principles:

- We believe we are called to offer a different witness on the Israeli-Palestinian conflict than that communicated by recent UCC and NH Conference actions.
- We believe that the best future for all residents of the Middle East is a peaceful future.
- We believe that peace and justice in the Middle East must be pursued in ways that do not promote anti-Semitism at home or abroad.
- We believe that the UCC should take an active role in promoting peace in the Middle East—as peacemakers, not partisans. UCC peacemakers should work with and encourage both sides; we should act in ways that promote and bring about real change for good.
- We believe that partisan resolutions like those adopted by the NH Conference and the UCC can make peace harder to achieve, by alienating Jews and Israelis and enabling some Palestinians to believe they do not need to negotiate for peace.

Finding Our Hearts: Stewardship 2016

“Time, talent, and treasure” is a common way of describing stewardship. It’s a familiar but misleading formula, suggesting that time and talent are not treasures like money. But how we spend our time and make use of our talents—like how we invest our financial resources—is an expression of our faith, of where our hearts can be found. By participating fully in the ministry of stewardship, each of us has the opportunity to “store up treasures in heaven,” to make a place in our hearts for God’s grace and love. Our faithful stewardship enables and enhances everything that we do at FCC.

Thus far we are grateful to have received over 30 pledges for this year, some from members of our congregation who are pledging for the first time.

Thank you for your prayerful, honest consideration of your commitment to our church’s mission and ministry in 2016.

* * *

New offering envelopes are available in the Parish Hall. Once you’ve submitted a pledge form, please take whichever box you wish and record your name and number on the list.

Which Offering Is Which?

As any semi-regular visitor to Sunday morning worship knows, our stewardship effort asks us to consider a variety of offering collections throughout the year. It’s helpful from time to time, then, to recognize that each collection serves a distinct purpose:

Regular pledge offering—Collected every Sunday (or any other time), and treated as unrestricted support for FCC’s operations, ministries, and programming.

Communion offering—Collected every first Sunday of the month, directly supporting the Diaconate’s Open-Door Fund for community assistance (gas and grocery cards and other assistance) or occasionally designated for a specific mission need.

Special UCC offerings (e.g., One Great Hour of Sharing, Strengthen the Church, Neighbors in Need, Christmas Fund)—each collected once annually as part of a regional, national, or international campaign for a particular mission or service cause.

No matter which envelopes we’re using, THANKS TO ALL for so generously and consistently supporting this diversity of purposes, here at FCC and far beyond!

The Diaconate therefore recommends that the First Congregational Church of Lebanon offer a public witness opposing these resolutions. We must state that they do not speak for our church.

With support from our congregation, we would allow our Diaconate, Pastor, and other church leaders to communicate our witness to our brothers and sisters in the Jewish community, including the Upper Valley Jewish Community, Dartmouth College Hillel, and Congregation Shir Shalom in Woodstock; to other UCC churches in NH and VT; to the Grafton-Orange-Sullivan Association, the NH Conference, and the UCC itself; and to the public via articles, editorial letters, and statements on our web site.

QUESTIONS? The Diaconate plans to lead a congregational dialogue on this important issue in the near future, and it welcomes questions at any time. The resolutions themselves will also be available for review as part of this process. We look forward to hearing your comments, concerns, and opinions.

THE LIFE OF OUR CONGREGATION

Which brings us back to the Parish Hall. My hope and my prayer is that as we move through Epiphany and into Lent, each of us and all of us will live into the blessing of pilgrimage, that we will enjoy the trip, savor each moment, and give the Holy Spirit the opportunity to lead us forward. Perhaps, we will see not only the particular room in which we worship but all the world around us with new eyes, new hope, and new faith.

Yours faithfully,

Steve
